INTERNATIONAL GENDER EQUALITY PRIZE

FINLAND PROMOTES GENDER EQUALITY WITH THE INTERNATIONAL GENDER EQUALITY PRIZE

CHANCELLOR MERKEL FIRST-EVER RECIPIENT OF THE AWARD

Gender equality is a core value in Finland. It has been essential in shaping and defining the way we have built our nation to achieve the success we enjoy today. To celebrate Finland's 100 years of independence in 2017, the Government of Finland launched the International Gender Equality Prize. The objective of the prize is to promote gender equality around the world and to support discussion on equality.

The first-ever recipient of the prize, announced by Prime Minister Juha Sipilä on 14 December 2017, is Federal Chancellor Angela Merkel of Germany. As stated in the reasoning for the award, Angela Merkel's life work has made her one of the world's most influential people and an example to many women and girls. By breaking through the glass ceiling, Chancellor Merkel has shown that women can rise to the top ranks of society.

The prize amounted to EUR 150,000 in 2017, and the recipient is asked to assign the prize to a cause, an innovative endeavour or an action that strengthens the position of girls and women. Chancellor Merkel chose to allocate it to the NGO “Femmes et Enfants Victimes de Violence Familiale” in Niger. The mission of the NGO, created in 1998, is to oppose all forms of domestic violence.

The prize is awarded biennially in cooperation with the City of Tampere, based on the recommendation of an independent jury.
